-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection in view of Murata et al. (US 5987402), necessitated by claim amendment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless – (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 117-128 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Murata et al. (US 5987402).

4. Regarding claims 117, 121, and 125, Murata et al. disclose a method of providing a translated foreign language communication to a receiver of a foreign language communication, the method comprising:

the receiver receiving a foreign language communication having a translation information segment embedded or attached by an author of the foreign language communication, the translation information segment defining language dependent parameters for use in translating the foreign language communication (col. 6, lines 33-

60, the header includes all the embedded information such as time, date, language and other information);

selecting the foreign language communication for translation (step 302 in figure 25, receive input document);

parsing the foreign language communication, without input from the receiver, to extract the translation information segment (col. 6, lines 33-60, the header is equivalent to the translation information segment);

determining whether the parameters include a pointer to a pre-existing translation of the foreign language communication (col. 6, lines 33-60 or steps 304-305 in figure 25, examining information in the header to determine if old translation existed); and using the pointer to retrieve and provide the translated foreign language communication to the receiver (steps 305 and 306a in figure 25) or, if the parameters do not include a pointer to a pre-existing translation of the foreign language communication, then directing the foreign language communication to a translation resource that translates the foreign language communication according to the language dependent parameters and returns the translated foreign language communication to the receiver (steps 307-309 in figure 25).

5. Regarding claims 118-120, 122-124, and 126-128, Murata et al. further disclose the method wherein an application that parses the foreign language communication comprises a web browser for web pages, an email program for email, or a word processor for text documents, wherein the foreign language communication comprises a plurality of translation information segments, wherein each translation information segment in the plurality of translation information segments comprises parameters for translation of a portion of the foreign language communication (within the scope of the reference).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Lakritz (US 6623529) is considered pertinent to the claimed invention.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
